Established in 1954, Will Rogers Park is located in Claremore, Oklahoma. It encompasses eight beautiful acres just below the crest of Rogers State University and the Will Rogers Memorial. The park is centrally located on the corner of Brady Street (Highway 20) and Camden. Mature trees throughout the park accompany a playground, shelter, picnic tables and a stage. Recent renovations in the park have included a splash pad, new playground equipment, and now will be the home of the Teaching Gardens at Will Rogers Park.

Location of Will Rogers Park

The Teaching Gardens are a part of the Will Rogers Park Project. Recent renovations include dedicated areas for teaching and demonstration gardens. The gardens will eventually encompass a large portion of the eastern side of the park.
